Symposium Synopsis

In complex disputes across Asia Pacific, expert evidence frequently determines the outcome—yet tribunals continue to criticise how experts are selected, instructed and deployed. Poorly framed instructions, blurred independence, and misaligned expectations between counsel and expert can undermine even the strongest cases.

This Symposium brings together leading lawyers, experts and judges/arbitrators to examine what actually works in practice. Anchored in recent judicial and arbitral commentary from Singapore and across the region, the programme moves beyond theory to confront the strategic, procedural and ethical challenges in engaging expert evidence.

Through a combination of keynote insights, candid panel discussions and live mock engagements, participants will explore the full lifecycle of expert involvement—from initial instruction and scoping, to joint statements, concurrent evidence, and tribunal scrutiny. The mock sessions will deliberately showcase both flawed and effective approaches, followed by rigorous critique from seasoned judges/arbitrators.

Designed for dispute professionals (whether experienced or aspiring), this Symposium provides a rare opportunity to dissect real-world pitfalls, benchmark best practices, and refine the lawyer–expert interface in high-stakes proceedings.

Participants will leave with a clearer understanding of how to instruct experts in a manner that enhances credibility, withstands cross-examination, and ultimately strengthens the persuasiveness of their case. (This year, we will conduct a special run of the on 28th November 2026) the day after the Symposium) and offer a special 20% discount off the Accreditation Course (with examination) for delegates who sign up for both.
